

Decline

From the maturity phase, subtractions or additions are made to accommodate the departure of children and changes in resources, interests, and aspirations. Houses may expand or contract in the Decline phase.